

Soul Beach Music Festival Rocks Aruba for the 6th straight year!

Thousands came in droves from all over the U.S., Aruba and all corners of the globe to share the love, great music, and comedy as part of the Soul Beach Music Festival over Memorial Day weekend, and they were not disappointed in the fabulous line up and activities arranged by the Adkins family again. Sinbad left behind a legacy when he first came to Aruba ten years ago, and his siblings, Mark, Donna, and Dorothy with the help of a great team from the U.S. and Aruba, have carried the torch, bringing a parade of top talent to the island, and happy people to enjoy it.

Over Saturday and Sunday night, Anthony Hamilton, the sisters Nicole and Natalie Albino that dub themselves “Nina Sky,” Brian McKnight, Lenny Williams and Sunday night headliner Alicia Keys filled the beach at the Surfside with the sound of classic and contemporary R & B. The throng swayed to the music, sang along with the lyrics they love so well, and left suffused with “soul.” This year’s concert was an absolutely outstanding lineup featuring the best of the best, and proved to be the biggest festival yet, with nearly ten thousand enjoying the vibes for the final concert on Sunday night. Here is one circumstance where the adage “A picture tells a thousand words” definitely applies!
